(1) Data note: the share price history covers calendar 2025 only, so the 2025 high is shown and labelled as such rather than a 52-week high to the 15 May 2026 unaffected date.

(2) Data note: the capitalization table shows 114.0M diluted shares; management directs 112.6M (treasury method at the offer) for per-share values.

The $27.00 offer sits above 4 of 5 valuation ranges and inside the other 1

(Implied value per share, $) (1)

(1) Per-share values use 112.6M diluted shares and $845M net debt. Comps ranges drop the lowest and highest multiple. DCF discounts FY26E–FY30E unlevered FCF to the start of FY26 (end-year convention; no stub-period adjustment for the May 2026 valuation date).

The smallest premium is to the 2025 high: the $27.00 offer is 24.5% above it

(Premium implied by the $27.00 offer, %)

Trading comps: the offer values Corvane at 12.5x LTM EBITDA against a 10.0x peer median
